Clemson vs. Maryland Series

Clemson holds a 31-26-2 advantage in the series with Maryland. The first game of the series was played in 1952, one year before both teams became charter members of the ACC. The two schools have played every year since 1952, the longest active continuous rivalry for the Tigers against an ACC school. It is the longest continuous rivalry for Maryland as well. The Terps won each of the first four games in the series before the Tigers got a tie in 1956 and a win in 1957.

The visiting team won four straight games between 2005-08. But, the home team has pulled off an upset each of the last two years. Maryland won just two games all year in 2009, but defeated a Clemson team that won nine games and played for the ACC Championship. Then last year Clemson finished with a 6-7 record, but defeated a nine-win Maryland team that finished in the final top 25 by a 31-7 score.

Clemson had won eight in a row and 13 of 14 prior to Ralph Friedgen's return to his alma mater for the 2001 season. Friedgen finished 6-4 against Clemson, including a 3-2 record at Death Valley and 3-2 in Byrd Stadium.

The three meetings between 2004-06 were decided within the last three minutes of the game and the average victory margin in those three games was just 2.7 points. While Clemson won by 24 points last year, five of the last seven games have been decided by four points or less.

Clemson held Maryland to just 12 total points in winning every game between 1993-98. Clemson recorded four shutouts, including three in a row during that time period. During Clemson's eight-game winning streak in the series from 1993-2000, Clemson held Maryland to an average of 7.0 points per game, while scoring 26.8 points per game themselves.

In 2002, Maryland defeated Clemson in Death Valley, its first win at Memorial Stadium since 1985. It was Ralph Friedgen's first game as Maryland head coach against Clemson in Death Valley. Clemson has won 10 of the last 13 between the two teams in Death Valley. Maryland won at Clemson in an upset in 2006 by a 13-12 score. Had Clemson won that 2006 game it would have played in the ACC Championship game.

Saturday's game will be a meeting of two of the traditional powerhouses of the ACC. Both Clemson and Maryland have been in the ACC since its inception in the fall of 1953. Both teams played their first ACC game against each other on October 3, 1953 at Clemson, a 20-0 Maryland victory. Clemson has the most ACC wins in the history of the league and Maryland is second.

Clemson and Maryland have both won the National Championship, the Terps during that first ACC season in 1953, and Clemson in 1981. Clemson has the most ACC championships with 13, while Maryland is third with nine.

The two teams played at the end of the season in most years between 1978-88 and the game usually decided the ACC championship. That was certainly the case in 1978 when the Tigers won 28-24 at College Park, clinching an undefeated season in the league over Maryland. It was 11th ranked Maryland's only league loss that season.

Clemson also clinched the ACC championship with a November victory or tie over Maryland in 1981, 1982, 1986, 1987 and 1988. Maryland clinched the ACC Championship in 2001 with a 37-20 victory over Clemson in College Park. The Terps also clinched the title in 1985 with a victory in Death Valley.

Clemson has a history of great return performances against Maryland over the years.

The greatest return game in ACC history by any individual was recorded by Clemson's Don Kelley against Maryland in 1970. He had 223 total return yards on punt and interception returns in that game.

In 1990 in Baltimore, Doug Thomas had a 98-yard kickoff return for a score in Clemson's 18-17 victory.

A year later Darnell Stephens had an 89-yard punt return for a score in Death Valley, the second longest punt return for a score in the history of Memorial Stadium.

In 2001, Derrick Hamilton had a 100-yard kickoff return for a score in a game in College Park.

C.J. Spiller had a 92-yard kickoff return for a touchdown at Maryland last year. He finished the return wearing just one shoe.

The tradition continued in 2010 when Andre Ellington had an 87 yard kickoff return for a score at Clemson.

Last Year vs. Maryland

Behind two returns for touchdowns and a stingy defense, Clemson topped Maryland 31-7 at Memorial Stadium on October 16, 2010. It was Clemson's biggest win over the Terrapins since 1996. It was also a special day for the Tigers, who retired the #28 of former All-American C.J. Spiller (2006-09) during halftime ceremonies.

The Tigers took the opening kickoff and drove 36 yards before Chandler Catanzaro kicked a 42-yard field goal. After the teams traded punts on the next six possessions, Maryland drove 81 yards, capped by running back Da'Rel Scott's touchdown pass to Danny O'Brien.

But Maryland's only lead of the game lasted just 12 seconds, as Andre Ellington, who earned ACC Specialist-of-the-Week honors, returned the ensuing kickoff 87 yards for a touchdown.

After the Terrapins drove down the field, Clemson's defense stiffened, as Da'Quan Bowers sacked O'Brien on third-and-one from the Tiger seven. Baltz then missed a 33-yard field-goal attempt.

The Tigers drove 80 yards in 13 plays to take a 17-7 lead with 32 seconds left before halftime. Jamie Harper's one-yard plunge on fourth-and-goal capped the drive.

After Jaron Brown returned a punt 41 yards in the third quarter, Ellington scored on a one-yard run. In the fourth quarter, Xavier Brewer picked off a pass and returned it 61 yards for the game's final score. It was one of three Tiger interceptions in the fourth quarter.

Clemson did not commit a turnover, while it totaled 268 combined yards on interception, kickoff, and punt returns. Bowers had all three of Clemson's sacks and four tackles for loss to earn ACC Defensive Lineman-of-the-Week honors.

It was one of the bigger wins of the season for Clemson, as the Terps finished with a 9-4 record and a top 25 final national ranking.

Last Meeting at Maryland Maryland 24, Clemson 21 October 3, 2009

Maryland upset Clemson in 2009 in College Park by a 24-21 score. Maryland would not win another game the rest of the season, while Clemson won six in a row after this game, won the Atlantic Division of the ACC and finished in the top 25 of the final AP poll.

C.J. Spiller had 176 all-purpose yards, including a 92-yard kickoff return for a touchdown, a play in which he ran the final 60 yards in one shoe. Spiller finished with 72 yards rushing, while tight end Michael Palmer had five catches for 65 yards and Jacoby Ford added 5-37. Kyle Parker was 20-37 for 180 yards.

Clemson jumped out to a 10-0 lead, and led 13-3 after a 51-yard field goal by Richard Jackson. But, Maryland went on a 21-0 run over the next two quarters. Spiller's 92-yard kickoff return brought the score to 24-21 in favor of Maryland with 4:11 left in the third period. But, that was the last score of the game.

DeAndre McDaniel led the Clemson defense with 11 tackles, while Da'Quan Bowers added eight and Marcus Gilchrist had eight. Jarvis Jenkins had 2.5 tackles for loss and Bowers had two.

It was a defensive struggle overall as neither team gained 300 yards of total offense. Clemson had just 81 yards rushing on 30 attempts and Maryland had 69 yards rushing on 45 attempts. Clemson had three turnovers to two by Maryland.

Ellington Over 100 Yards vs. Boston College

Andre Ellington had 117 yards on 22 attempts and scored on a 35-yard run that put the game out of reach in the fourth quarter in Clemson's 36-14 win over Boston College. It was a strong game for the junior who had been injured off and on since the third game of the season against Auburn.

There was a bit of irony in Ellington's return to full health for the Boston College game, because he suffered a toe injury last year at Boston College that limited him to just a token appearance against South Carolina over the last six games of the season.

Ellington is Clemson's top rusher this year with 528 yards in 115 attempts and has five rushing touchdowns. He now has 1705 yards rushing for his career in 301 attempts, 5.6 yards per attempt for his career. He now has 19 career rushing touchdowns and 21 total touchdowns in 29 career games with the Tigers. The Boston College game was his sixth career 100-yard game.

Goodman Has Best Day

Junior defensive end Mallicah Goodman had his best game of the season in the win over Boston College. The native of Florence, SC had six tackles, but three of them were for a loss, including a sack. He had all three tackles for loss in the first quarter and was a big reason Boston College had just 14 points and 258 yards of total offense.

Goodman has 24 tackles for the year and nine quarterback pressures. He is second on the Clemson team in quarterback pressures. This is Goodman's first year as a starter. He played behind 2010 Bronko Nagurski Award winner Da'Quan Bowers last year.

Clemson Defense Coming On

Clemson's defense has been much improved in the last couple of weeks. Over the last two weeks opponents have just 17 total points and each team has had just 258 yards of total offense, a statistical oddity if there ever was one. With the efforts the last two weeks, Clemson has moved up to 24th in the nation in scoring defense.

Clemson's defense gained more confidence last week when Virginia Tech scored 38 points and threw for over 300 yards in a 38-35 victory over Miami. The Tigers then held Boston College to 126 yards rushing and 132 passing and the Tigers won the turnover battle 2-0.

The big difference has been limiting opponent big plays. Over the last two games the opposition has just one play of 20 yards or more. In the first four games opponents had 13 plays of 20 yards or more. Clemson also has seven sacks in the last two games after getting just four total in the first four games.

Six Players with a Play of 50 Yards or More

An indication of the amount of weapons on the Clemson offense is the number of players with a play of 50 yards or more so far this year. Through six games Clemson has six different players who have been involved in eight scrimmage plays of 50 yards or more. The record for a season is seven different players, established in 2001.

So far this year, Sammy Watkins has had three different pass plays of at least 60 yards, two 62-yard receptions and a 65 yard catch. Mike Bellamy has a 75-yard run, Andre Ellington had a 74-yard run, Dwayne Allen has a 54-yard reception, DeAndre Hopkins has a 50-yard catch and Martavis Bryant has a 54 yard catch.

Clemson one of 13 Undefeated Teams

Clemson is one of 13 undefeated teams in college football, including one of seven who are 6-0. That means Clemson is one of the first seven teams to become bowl eligible. It is Clemson's best start since the 2000 season when Clemson opened with an 8-0 record under Tommy Bowden. The streak ended that year with a loss to Georgia Tech. Clemson plays Georgia Tech this year in the ninth game.

It is interesting to note that 10 of the 13 teams are on the road this week.

Schedule of Undefeated Teams this Week

Team	W-L	Opponent this week
Alabama	6-0	at Mississippi
LSU	6-0	at Tennessee
Wisconsin	5-0	vs Indiana
Boise State	5-0	at Colorado State
Illinois	6-0	vs. Ohio State
Kansas State	5-0	at Texas Tech
Stanford	5-0	at Washington State

Tigers Bowl Eligible on October 8

When Clemson defeated Boston College on October 8 the Tigers became bowl eligible with six victories. That is the earliest Clemson has been bowl eligible in its history.

Clemson won its sixth game of the 2000 season on October 7, but one of the victories to open that season was against Division I-AA Citadel. In those days you could not count a win over a Division I-AA team towards your six wins to become bowl eligible.

Stoudt Performs Well off the Bench

Clemson true freshman Cole Stoudt came off the bench to guide the Clemson offense to victory over Boston College on October 8. Stoudt replaced starter Tajh Boyd after Boyd suffered a hip injury on Clemson's first drive of the second half. Boyd played the first 52 snaps at quarterback for Clemson and Stoudt was at the helm for the last 28.

Stoudt completed 6-10 passes for 37 yards during his time at quarterback. He entered with the score 23-7 in favor of the Tigers so he helped the Tigers to 13 points. It was a solid performance because he had not played since the opening game of the year and he had taken just seven snaps prior to entering the Boston College game.

Stoudt is the son of former Pittsburgh Steelers quarterback Cliff Stoudt.

Clemson's Offensive Improvement

Clemson has made an incredible improvement from the 2010 season in terms of offensive production and it is a big reason the Tigers have already reached their victory total of all last year by midseason.

A look to the chart below shows that Clemson has improved in terms of total offense from 88th in the nation to 19th so far this year, from 78th to 23rd in passing offense and from 86th to 31st in scoring. Clemson was 100th in passing efficiency last year and is now 21st this year.

In terms of yardage, Clemson is averaging over 100 yards more a game through the air, nearly a 140 more yards a game in total offense and 11 points per game higher.

Clemson Offense Comparison

Category (Rank/Figure)	2010	2011
Record	6-7	6-0

Watkins Approaching a Career Record

One of the most telling statistics on the impact of Clemson freshman Sammy Watkins has been his ability to have high receiving yardage games. In just six games, Watkins already has three games of at least 140 receiving yards. That ranks second in Clemson history.

Let me repeat that, Sammy Watkins is second in Clemson history in career receiving yard games of 140 yards or more. Perry Tuttle had four in his 46 games at Clemson from 1978-81 and Watkins needs just one more to tie him for the career record. You just don't run into a lot of freshmen setting career records.

Watkins had 10 catches for 155 yards in the victory over Auburn. He followed that with seven for 142 in the win over Florida State. Then, in the win over Boston College, he had seven catches for 152 yards.

Watkins has four of the top 11 single game freshman reception bests in Clemson history, including his freshman record 10 catches against Auburn in his third career game.

It Hasn't Taken Sammy Watkins Long to...

- Set the Clemson freshman record for touchdown receptions. He has six and the record was four set by many players, including current teammate DeAndre Hopkins.

- Join Rod Gardner as the only receivers in Clemson history to have consecutive games with at least 140 receiving yards. He had 155 on 10 catches in the win over Auburn and 7-141 in the win over Florida State.

- Lead the team in all-purpose running yards (860), receptions (38), and receiving yards (623).

- Be named National Freshman of the Week twice. He was named by Rivals.com for the Auburn and Florida State games.

- Become the first Clemson freshman to score a touchdown in each of his first four games. He is the last Clemson player of any class to score a TD in each of the first four games of the season since C.J. Spiller scored a TD in every game of the 2009 season (14 games).

- Become the first freshman in ACC history to score six receiving touchdowns within the first four games of his career. Previous best was just five. The ACC freshman reception touchdown record is nine by Greg Carr of Florida State in 2005 and Heath Miller of Virginia in 2002.

- Become just the third FBS freshman to get at least six touchdown receptions in the first four games of his freshman year since 2000. The only other FBS freshmen to do it since 2000 are Michael Crabtree of Texas Tech, who had 11 in his first four games of 2007, and Todd Blythe of Iowa State, who had six in his first four games as a freshman in 2004.

- Record three receiving games of at least 140 yards, second on the Clemson career list behind Perry Tuttle who had four.

Clemson Quarterback Upgraded to Probable for Maryland Game

Clemson quarterback Tajh Boyd was upgraded to probable for the Tigers game with Maryland on Saturday. Head Coach Dabo Swinney said on his Sunday media teleconference that Boyd was much improved on Sunday when he was examined by Clemson Head Athletic Trainer Danny Poole.

Boyd suffered a strained hip when he was tackled after completing a five-yard pass to Dwayne Allen on Clemson's first drive of the third period in the Tigers 36-14 win over Boston College. Boyd left the field with assistance. He was 16-26 for 283 yards and a touchdown pass and added six rushes for 37 yards and a touchdown. He had 320 yards of total offense in just over a half.

"Tajh was feeling much better today," said Swinney. "We really expect him to be back at practice full speed on Tuesday and be ready to play against Maryland."

For the season, Boyd ranks first in the ACC in passing yards per game (290), total offense (310.3) and is second in touchdown passes (15). He has completed 119-194 for 15 touchdowns and just two interceptions. He ranks 14th in the nation in total offense and 16th in passing efficiency.

The native of Hampton, VA is a major reason Clemson ranks eighth in both the AP and USA Today polls this year, the highest ranking among ACC teams. The Tigers are 6-0 overall, 3-0 in the ACC. It is the first time since 2000 that Clemson has started 6-0 overall and 3-0 in the ACC. The Tigers already have three wins over top 25 teams, tied for second in the nation with Alabama and behind LSU's four top 25 wins.

Clemson Has Scored in 15 Straight Quarters

Entering the Maryland game, Clemson has scored in 15 consecutive quarters and in 22 of 24 quarters this year. That is the longest streak for a Clemson team since 2003 when the Tigers had a streak of 15 in a row from the fourth quarter of the Wake Forest game through the first half of the Chick-fil-A Bowl victory over Tennessee.

This 2011 team is just five quarters away from tying the school record of 20. Clemson scored in 20 straight quarters during the 1983 season, a streak that was stopped by North Carolina on November 5. The second longest streak is a 17-quarter run in 2001.

It is interesting to note that three of the top five streaks in school history have been stopped by North Carolina. If Clemson can keep the streak going against Maryland this week, the Tigers would then try to set the record against North Carolina on October 22.

Clemson has scored in every quarter this year but two, the second period of the Troy game and the first period of the Auburn game.

Most Consecutive Quarters Scoring, Clemson History

Zimmerman Ranks among Clemson's Best

Clemson punter Dawson Zimmerman is having another outstanding year. He leads the ACC in punting (min of 3.6 attempts) with a 43.2 average. With the success of the Clemson offense, he has just 25 punts in six games. He has nine punts inside the 20 and just three touchbacks.

Zimmerman is now sixth in Clemson history in punting average with a 41.16 average. He has 49 punts inside the 20 against just 14 touchbacks, so he has an ability to pin teams inside their own redzone.

Zimmerman's list of responsibilities has increased. Kickoff man and holder Spencer Benton suffered a shoulder injury against Virginia Tech and is out for at least six weeks. Zimmerman has taken over the kickoff duties and the holding duties.

How did he do as a holder? In his first full game with the assignment, Chandler Catanzaro was 5-5 on field goals, including two of at least 40 yards. He also did well on his seven kickoffs.

Catanzaro Has Best Day

Clemson kicker Chandler Catanzaro was a perfect 5-5 on field goals in the win over Boston College. He connected on kicks of 18, 20, 38, 42 and 47 yards on a windy day in Death Valley.

Catanzaro is now 10-12 on field goals for the year, including 5-6 on attempts of 40 yards or more. For his career he is 11-15 on field goal attempts from that distance, 73.3 percent, better than his percentage inside 40 yards (13-19 for .684).

For his performance against Boston College, Catanzaro won the Leather Helmet Award, an honor presented by the Boston College touchdown Club to the MVP of the Clemson vs. Boston College game. He also was named the National Kicker of the Week by the College Football Performance Awards, and was one of three kickers named as the Lou Groza Award Performer of the Week.

Pearman and Powell Coached at Both Schools

Two assistant coaches in Saturday's game have worked for both schools. Clemson tight ends and special teams coach Danny Pearman, worked at Maryland as an assistant coach under Ralph Friedgen in 2008. He was with the Terps before he came to Clemson for the Gator Bowl at the end of the 2008 season and he has been on Dabo Swinney's staff ever since.

Andre Powell is on the Maryland staff now after working the previous four seasons at Clemson (2007-10). In that time he was in charge of the special teams and had a big impact on Clemson returning 11 kicks for touchdowns in those four years. He was C.J. Spiller's position coach the year Spiller was the MVP of the ACC.

Clemson And Maryland Have Played Close Games Recently

Clemson and Maryland played some close game in recent years. In fact, five of the last seven have been decided by four points or less. The average score between the two schools over the last five years has been a 19.7 to 17.5, less than two points per game.

Clemson has won four of the last seven games, including last year by a 31-7 score.

Between 2004-06, each of the three games came down to plays in the last three minutes, including two inside the last 25 seconds. The 2006 game at Clemson was decided on a 31-yard field goal by Maryland's Dan Ennis as the final horn sounded for a 13-12 Maryland win.

Clemson won the previous two contests on touchdowns by Reggie Merriweather. In 2004 at Clemson, Merriweather scored from the two-yard line with 23 seconds left to give Clemson a 10-7 victory. In 2005, Merriweather scored the game winner with 2:58 left on a 38-yard run to give Clemson a 28-24 lead and victory. It is the only time in Clemson history the same player scored a touchdown inside the last three minutes against the same opponent to give the Tigers victory.

In 2009 Maryland pulled off the upset with a 24-21 victory. That Clemson team went on to win the Atlantic Division Championship.

Clemson Had Three Straight Wins over Top 20 Teams

With its October 1 win over 10th ranked (USA Today) and 11th ranked AP Virginia Tech, Clemson became the first ACC team to win three consecutive games over teams ranked in the top 25 of both major polls. Clemson defeated Auburn and Florida State the two weeks before that and both were ranked in the top 25 of both polls.

Clemson had won back-to-back games over ranked teams four times previously, in 1982, 1983, 1988 and 2005. Georgia Tech (1959) and Virginia Tech (2002) had done three victories in three weeks over ranked team, but they were not in the ACC at the time of the accomplishment. Maryland beat three straight top 20 teams in 1984, but two of the teams in the streak were only ranked in one poll.

The win at Virginia Tech was Clemson's 20th road win over a ranked team in its history, but its first by 20 points. Clemson's previous largest margin of victory over a ranked team on the road was 11 points, a 28-17 win at 19th ranked North Carolina in 1994, and a 34-23 win at 16th ranked Florida State in 1989.

Clemson's defense was outstanding in the 23-3 victory. Clemson held Virginia Tech without a touchdown in a home game for the first time since 1995.

Clemson Moves to eighth in Both Polls

Clemson moved from unranked in both polls, to eighth in both rankings with its three straight wins over top 20 teams. This is the highest ranking for the Tigers since October 22, 2000 when the Tigers were fifth in AP and fourth in USA Today after an 8-0 start to the year. Clemson was ranked in the top 10 for six straight weeks that year.

This is Clemson's second straight week ranked eighth in both polls. The Tigers are also eighth in the Harris Interactive poll.

The last time Clemson was ranked in the top 10 was for the pre-season poll of 2008 when the Tigers were ninth in both polls. The last time Clemson was ranked in the top 10 during the regular season was in 2006. Clemson was 10th after a 7-1 start to that year. Clemson then dropped out of the top 10 with a 24-7 loss at Virginia Tech. Ironically, Clemson now enters the top 10 for the first time since that loss at Virginia Tech with a victory over the Hokies in Blacksburg.

Stopping Streaks and Landmark Wins

On September 17 Clemson ended Auburn's 17-game winning streak, the longest streak in Auburn history, the longest active streak in the nation and the longest streak Clemson has ended in its history. Clemson also ended its 14-game losing streak to Auburn. The Tigers had not beaten the Auburn Tigers since 1951.

At Virginia Tech, Clemson ended the Hokies, 12-game ACC winning streak, its 14-game regular season winning streak, and its five game winning streak against Clemson. The Tigers had not beaten Virginia Tech since 1989.

Tigers Start 6-0

Clemson is 6-0 for the first time since 2000 when the Tigers started 8-0. It is just the 9th start of at least 6-0 in the history of Clemson football, just the second since Clemson won the National Championship with a 12-0 mark in 1981.

Clemson is now 3-0 in the ACC to start the season for the first time since 2000 when the Tigers defeated started 5-0 in the ACC.

Clemson won five straight games to open the season against five teams who won some type of a championship last year. Clemson has beaten Troy (Sun Belt Champion), Wofford (Southern Conference), Auburn (SEC and National Champion), Florida State (Atlantic Division of ACC) and Virginia Tech (ACC), to open the season. Florida State, Virginia Tech and Auburn are still ranked in the AP and USA Today polls and Wofford is ranked in the top 10 in the FCS poll.

Boyd Can Set Record Saturday

Clemson quarterback Tajh Boyd has won each of his first six starts as the Tigers quarterback. He is the first Clemson quarterback to win his first six starts since Mike Epley won six in the row to start his career between 1982-83. That is the Clemson record for wins by a starting quarterback to start a career.

Epley, a two-sport Clemson athlete, took over for an injured Homer Jordan in the middle of the 1982 season against Kentucky and won four starts in a row that season. He then won the opener of 1983 before losing to Boston College in the third game of the season.

Clemson 20-7 in Redemption Home Games Since 1999

For the fourth time this season, a team that defeated Clemson on the road last year, will come to Memorial Stadium when North Carolina comes to Death Valley on October 22.

The Tigers are 3-0 so far this year against teams that downed the Tigers last year away from home. In 2010, Auburn defeated Clemson in Auburn 27-24 in overtime, then the Tigers won 38-24 at Clemson on September 17. The following week, Clemson defeated Florida State, 35-30. The Seminoles defeated Clemson last year 16-13 in Tallahassee.

Boston College came to town after downing the Tigers 16-10 last year and left with a 36-14 loss.

Two weeks from now, North Carolina comes to Clemson after defeating the Tigers last year in Chapel Hill, 21-16.

Clemson has been successful in games in this situation in recent years. Since 1999, Clemson is 20-7 at home against teams that defeated the Tigers on the road the previous year. Clemson won nine straight games in this situation between the 2003 Virginia game and the 2006 Georgia Tech game. Virginia Tech broke the streak in 2007 with a 41-23 win at Clemson.

Branch Has Best Game of Career

Andre Branch, a native of Richmond, VA, had a career high tying 11 tackles (11 vs. Wofford this year), and a record tying four sacks and six tackles for loss in the win at Virginia Tech.

His tackle for loss and sack totals tied for the best in Clemson history for a single game. Keith Adams had four sacks and six tackles for loss against Duke in a game at Clemson in 1999. Branch's performance is the best ever by a Clemson defensive lineman and best by a Clemson player in a road game.

For his efforts, Branch was named the National Defensive Player of the Week and the National Defensive Lineman of the Week by the College Football Performance Awards. Branch has jumped to 7th in the nation in sacks per game and is 15th in tackles for loss. He is the first ACC player with three sacks in a game this year.

Additionally, Branch was named ACC Defensive lineman of the Week, the National Defensive Player of the Week by College Sports madness and the College Football Performance Awards.

Branch's selection as ACC Player of the Week by Rivals.com gave Clemson the overall ACC Player of the Week by the site for the third straight week. Tajh Boyd won the honor for the Auburn and Florida State games.

Branch Trying to Join the Fridge

Andre Branch is Clemson's leading tackler with 40, one more than the next Tiger, safety Jonathan Meeks. It is certainly unusual to see a defensive lineman leading the Tigers in tackles. In fact, no defensive lineman has led Clemson in tackles over a season since 1984 when middle guard William "The Refrigerator" Perry led the Tigers with 100. Perry was a first-team All-American that season.

So far Branch has 40 tackles, 10 tackles for loss, six of which are sacks. He had four sacks and six total tackles for loss in the win at Virginia Tech to tie the school single game record. Keith Adams had four sacks and six tackles for loss against Duke in 1999. Adams was a linebacker, so Branch's accomplishment were a record for a Clemson defensive lineman.

Allen Continues Outstanding Play

Clemson tight end Dwayne Allen continued his outstanding play in the win over Virginia Tech. He had four receptions for 75 yards and a score to lead Clemson receivers on the day. His 32-yard touchdown reception in the third period gave Clemson a 14-point lead on the way to the Tigers 23-3 verdict.

Allen was named the National Tight End of the Week by the College Football Performance Awards for his performance against Virginia Tech. It was the second time this year he was honored with a national Tight End award. He received the same honor from the John Mackey Award Committee for his performance in the win over Auburn.

It was the third straight game that Allen scored a touchdown. He is the first Clemson tight end to score a touchdown in three straight games since K.D. Dunn had a four game streak in 1984.

Allen had four more catches for 49 yards against Boston College, giving him four straight games with at least four catches. For the year he has 22 receptions for 340 yards. He now has 65 career catches, one more than all-time great and former Pittsburgh Steeler Bennie Cunningham.

Clemson Tied for Second in Wins over Top 25 Teams

Clemson already has three top 25 wins in the back this year, wins over Auburn, Florida State and Virginia Tech in consecutive weeks September 17 through October 1. Clemson became the first school to defeat three teams in a row who were ranked in the top 25 of both polls as the time of the game.

No Clemson team has won more than three games against top 25 teams in the same season, so Clemson has tied the record just five games into the season. The previous years Clemson defeated three top 25 teams was 1981, 1988, 1989, 2003 and 2005. Of course none of those teams accomplished the feat within the first half of the season like this Clemson team has done. It appears Clemson will have more chances to get a win over a ranked opponent as Georgia Tech and South Carolina are still on the schedule and are ranked in the top 20 of both polls this week.

With the three ranked wins Clemson is currently tied for second in the nation in that category. LSU leads with four, while Clemson and Alabama have three apiece.

Willard Coming on Strong

Clemson linebacker Jonathan "Tig" Willard had arguably his best game with the program in the Tigers victory over Virginia Tech on October 1. He had nine tackles from his linebacker position, the high total of his career. Seven of the nine tackles were first hits and he had a lot to do with Virginia Tech's failure to score a touchdown in a home game for the third time since 1995.

For his performance, Willard was named ACC Linebacker of the Week. That was a first for his career and in fact the first Clemson linebacker to earn a ACC Player of the Week honor since September 8, 2009 when Brandon Maye was named ACC Player of the Week in a victory over Middle Tennessee.

Willard is now second on the team in tackles with 38, 26 first hits and 13 assists.

Branch, Steele Honored by Rivals.com

Second Time a Clemson Coordinator Has Been Honored

Clemson defensive end Andre Branch and defensive coordinator Kevin Steele were honored by Rivals.com on October 2. Branch was named the ACC Player of the Week by the national website and Steele was named the National Coordinator of the Week. It is the second time this year a Clemson coordinator was honored. Offensive coordinator Chad Morris won the honor when Clemson defeated Auburn earlier this year.

Steele's defense held Virginia Tech to three points, the first time since 1995 the Hokies did not score a touchdown at home. Virginia Tech also had just 4.6 yards per pass attempt, 258 yards of total offense and converted just 4-16 on third downs. The Clemson defense did a good job of not giving up big plays as the Hokies longest play was just 19 yards.

Clemson's defense had four sacks for 31 yards in the game and all four sacks were credited to Branch, who finished with 11 total tackles, tying his career high. He also was credited with six total tackles for loss, tying a Clemson record. The four sacks also tied a Clemson single game record.

Walker Makes 40th Start

Clemson offensive tackle Landon Walker made his sixth start of the 2011 season and his 41st career start against Boston College last week. The native of North Wilkesboro, NC who is the son of a former Clemson football player (Gary Walker), has started 31 games in a row over three years.

Walker has started all five games in 2011, all 13 in 2010, 12 of 14 in 2009 and 10 of 12 in 2008 as a freshman. He went over the 100 knock-down block mark in the win over Florida State. He has done that against outstanding competition over his career as he has had to face Derrick Morgan of Georgia Tech, Ndamukong Suh of Nebraska, Jerry Hughes of TCU, and former Clemson teammate Da'Quan Bowers in practice.

Clemson Named National Team of the Week by Football Writers Association

Clemson was named the National Team of the Week of College Football for its 35-30 win over 11th ranked Florida State on September 24. It is just the second time Clemson has been the recipient of the award from the Football Writers Association of America that dates to 2002.

Clemson downed the Seminoles to give the Tigers a second win over a top 20 team in eight days, just the fourth time the program had wins over ranked teams in consecutive weeks. On September 17 Clemson defeated 19th ranked and defending National Champion Auburn.

Clemson gained 443 yards and scored 35 points against Florida State, who entered the game fifth in the nation in total defense, allowing just 195 yards per game. The Seminoles had also allowed just 11 points per game entering the contest.

Tajh Boyd completed 22-35 passes for 344 yards and added 19 rushing for 363 yards of total offense. His favorite target was freshman receiver Sammy Watkins, who had seven catches for 141 yards and two scores. Defensive tackle Rennie Moore had a sack on Florida State's final offensive play to preserve the victory, Clemson's fifth in a row over the Seminoles in Death Valley. Clemson held Florida State to just 29 yards rushing.

Clemson last won the award from the FWAA in 2003 after a 26-10 victory over a third-ranked Florida State team. That is still the highest ranked team Clemson has defeated in its history.

Ranked Wins on the Road

Clemson has 63 wins over Associated Press top 25 teams over the years and 20 of them have taken place on an opponent's home field. The 20th took place on October 1 when the Tigers defeated Virginia Tech 23-3. The 20-point margin was the largest margin of victory for the Tigers in a row game over a ranked opponent. The previous record was a 11-point win at North Carolina in 1994 and an 11-point win at Florida State in 1989.

Boyd Joins Whitehurst with Consecutive 300-yard Passing Games

Tajh Boyd threw for 386 yards in the victory over 19th ranked Auburn on September 17, then threw for 344 in the victory over 11th ranked Florida State the very next week. He joined Charlie Whitehurst (now of the Seattle Seahawks) as the only quarterbacks in Clemson history to throw for at least 300 yards in consecutive games. Whitehurst did it in the final two regular season games of 2003, at home against Duke and at South Carolina.

A look to the list below shows that Boyd did more than just break the 300-yard mark, he has had two of the top four yardage games in Clemson history. Not bad for your third and fourth career starts.

Boyd has already set four records this year. He has threw for at least three touchdowns in each of his four starts, the record for consecutive games throwing at least three TD passes, and he established the school record for passing yards over a two game (730), three-game (995) and four-game (1255) stretch.

Watkins, Morris and Boyd honored by Rivals.com Second Straight Week for Watkins and Boyd

Clemson wide receiver Sammy Watkins and offensive coordinator Chad Morris were honored by Rivals.com as National Freshman and offensive coordinators of the week, respectively for the Auburn game.

Clemson quarterback Tajh Boyd was honored as the website's ACC Player of the Week. It is the second consecutive week Watkins was named the national Freshman of the Week and the second straight week Boyd was named the overall ACC Player of the Week.

Watkins had seven receptions for 141 yards and two touchdowns in the win over 11th ranked Florida State. It gave him 17 receptions for 296 yards over the last two weeks against ranked opponents. He had 175 all-purpose running yards against Florida State.

Morris coached Clemson to 35 points and 443 yards against the nation's fifth-ranked defense in Florida State. The Seminoles came into the game allowing just 195 yards per game. The Tigers converted 9-17 on third down as well and scored five touchdowns. He has the Tigers ranked 13th in the nation in total offense, 16th in passing and 23rd in scoring.

Boyd completed 22 of 35 passes for 344 yards and three scores in the win over Florida State. He threw for three scores and ran for one as he led the Tigers to at least 35 points for the fourth straight game. Boyd is now 12th in the nation in passing efficiency and 10th in total offense.

Watkins Added to Biletnikoff Watch List

Clemson freshman receiver Sammy Watkins was one of 19 new players added to the Biletnikoff Award Watch list on September 23.

Watkins is a true freshman from Fort Myers, FL who leads Clemson in receiving with 38 receptions for 623 yards in six touchdowns. He leads Clemson in all three areas and has already set the Clemson freshman record for reception touchdowns for a season.

Watkins needs just 62 yards to break the Clemson receiving yardage record for a freshman. Derrick Hamilton had 684 in 2001.

Watkins had 10 receptions for 155 yards and two scores in the win over Auburn, then had seven for 141 and two scores in the win over Florida State. The 10 catches for 155 yards set a freshman record for reception yards and the 10 catches were also a freshman mark. He gained 199 yards from scrimmage in the win over Auburn named the National Freshman of the Week by Rivals.com, the ACC Receiver of the Week and the ACC Rookie of the Week. He was named National Freshman of the Week by Rivals.com for the Florida State game as well.

Allen, Boyd and Watkins Gain National Acclaim in Win over Auburn

Dwayne Allen, Tajh Boyd and Sammy Watkins all gained national acclaim for Clemson's victory over Auburn on September 17. Clemson defeated the defending national champions 38-24 at Death Valley to end the nation's longest winning streak at 17 games.

Allen was named the John Mackey Award Tight End of the Week for his performance in the victor as he had seven receptions for a career high 80 yards and a touchdown. Boyd won the Manning Award Quarterback of the Week after he completed 30-42 passes for 386 yards and four scores. The yardage total was the second most in Clemson history. He also had 30 yards rushing, giving him 416 yards of total offense.

Watkins was named National Freshman of the Week by Rivals.com for his performance as he had 10 receptions for 155 yards and two scores, including a 65-yarder early in the third period that gave Clemson the lead.

80 Snaps is the Goal for Morris Offense

Eighty snaps is the goal for the Clemson offense under offensive coordinator Chad Morris. He achieved that goal in Clemson wins over Auburn and Florida State in consecutive weeks.

The Tigers ran 92 plays to Auburn's 63 in Clemson's 38-24 victory, then ran 85 to Florida State's 53 in Clemson 35-30 win on September 24. That is 177 plays over consecutive games, an average of 88.5 plays per game in back to back weeks. That is the most plays run by the Clemson offense in back to back weeks since 2007 when Clemson had 90 snaps against Virginia Tech and 88 against Central Michigan in consecutive games for 178 total.

Clemson has averaged 77 plays per game so far this year. That is close to a record pace for the program. The record is 78.8 by the 1978 team that finished the season sixth in the final AP poll with an 11-1 record.

Tigers Looking for First 4-0 ACC Start since 2000

Clemson is looking for its first 4-0 start in the ACC since the 2000 season when the Tigers opened the league schedule with a 5-0 record on the way to a 8-0 overall start.

Watkins Honored by ACC Three Weeks in a Row

Clemson receiver Sammy Watkins was honored by the ACC three of the first four weeks of the season. The native of Fort Myers, FL was named ACC Rookie of the Week for his performance against Wofford and Auburn, and ACC Receiver of the Week for his performances against Auburn and Florida State. Obviously he was honored twice for his 199 yards from scrimmage against Auburn as he won both the Receiver of the Week and Rookie of the Week awards.

Quarterback Tajh Boyd was named ACC Back of the Week for the second straight week, wins over Auburn and Florida State, a pair of ranked opponents. Boyd joins former All-American C.J. Spiller (2009) and former quarterback Woody Dantzler (2001) as the only Clemson players to win ACC offensive back of the week honors for performances in consecutive games.

Clemson Offense on Record Pace

Clemson's offense is on a record pace in a number of areas so far this year. In two of the six games this year the Tigers have had at least 200 yards rushing and 200 yards passing. That is a good sign when Clemson does that because the Tigers are 55-0-1 when getting at least 200 yards or each in the same game in history. Clemson has had two 500-yard games and is 55-0-1 when gaining 500 yards or more in school history. Yes, the same record.

Against Auburn, Clemson had its second highest passing yardage total in a single game, its third largest total offense figure (624), and its fourth most first downs (32). Additionally, Clemson converted 14-18 third-down situations, including 10 in a row at one point. It was the most third down conversions in a game for the Clemson offense since 1986. It was the most total offense Clemson has had against an SEC in its history by 100 yards.

Through six games the Tigers are at a record rate or close to a record rate in a number of offensive categories:

Clemson Offense in 2011

Category	2011	School Record
Points/Game	35.0	34.7 (2000)
Touchdowns/Game	4.3	4.8 (1950)

Converting on Third Down

Clemson converted on third down 14 of 18 times in the win over Auburn. That tied for the second most third-down conversions on record in Clemson history and the .778 percentage is second best for a complete game. From the last third-down attempt of the first period to the last attempt of the third period, Clemson was 10-10 on third down. That was the second longest streak in a game in Clemson history. The Tigers were 12-12 on third down for the entire game against Wake Forest in 1981.

The record for most third down conversions in a game in school history is 15. Clemson was 15-22 on third down against Western Carolina in 1983. Clemson converted 9-17 in the win over Florida State and is now at 49 percent for the year.

Boyd Throws for 386 Yards

Clemson quarterback Tajh Boyd is off to a record breaking pace in his own right as he has completed 119-194 passes for 1742 yards and 15 touchdowns. He has thrown just two interceptions and has averaged 290 yards per game, best in the ACC. His passing efficiency rating is 160.2, third best in the ACC and 16th best in the nation, and he is 14th in the country in total offense with 310.3 yards per game. His 15 touchdown passes rank tied for ninth in the nation.

Boyd is on a Clemson record pace in all of those categories entering the Boston College game because of his performance in Clemson's win over Auburn. In that game Boyd was 30-42 for 386 yards and four scores. He did not throw an interception.

The passing yardage total was second best in Clemson history and topped only by the 420 passing yards Charlie Whitehurst had against Duke in 2002. That was Whitehurst's first career start, so the top two passing yardage totals in Clemson history have been recorded by quarterbacks within the first three starts of their respective careers.

Boyd had 30 yards rushing, giving him 416 yards of total offense, the fourth best single game total in school history. His 30 completions rank fourth best as well. The passing yardage total was the best ever for a Clemson quarterback in Clemson Memorial Stadium.

Three Wins Without Leading at Half

Clemson won each of the first three games this season without leading at the half. Clemson trailed against Troy in the season opener at intermission, 16-13, before winning 43-19. Clemson and Wofford were tied at the half at 21-21 before Clemson won 35-27. Then, against Auburn, the Tigers were tied 21-21 at intermission before winning 38-24.

This was the first time Clemson has won three straight games without leading at the half since 2004. That year at midseason, Clemson trailed Maryland 7-3 at intermission before winning 10-7. Clemson and NC State were tied at 10 at intermission before winning 26-20. The following week Clemson trailed Miami in the Orange Bowl 17-3 before winning in overtime 24-17.

Clemson overcame a 14-point deficit to beat Auburn. It tied for the fourth best comeback in Clemson history.

Summary of Clemson's Offensive Numbers vs. Auburn

*Gained 624 yards of total offense, third most in Clemson history. It was the most yards by a Clemson team against an SEC team in history. The previous record was 524 by the Tigers against Auburn in 1951. That was the last time Clemson had beaten Auburn prior to last Saturday.

- Had 32 first downs, fourth most in Clemson history.
- Had 238 yards rushing and 386 passing, just the sixth game in Clemson history the Tigers have had at least 300 yards passing and 200 yards rushing in the same game.
- Clemson improved to 55-0-1 when gaining at least 200 yards rushing and 200 yards passing in the same game.
- Converted 14-18 third down situations, tied for the second most third down conversions in a game in Clemson history and the second best percentage (.778) in school history. Clemson converted 10 straight third downs at one point in the game.
- Clemson ran 92 plays, tied for the fifth most plays in Clemson history.
- Clemson finished the game with an 18-play drive that took 9:34 off the clock. It tied for the third longest drive in Clemson history in terms of clock time and tied for the sixth longest in terms of plays.

Howard Comes Off the Bench

Clemson's leading rusher in the win over Auburn was Alabama native D.J. Howard. The red-shirt freshman played 30 snaps, all in the second half, after starter Andre Ellington suffered a pulled hamstring.

After not getting a carry in the first half, Howard got nine and gained 86 yards in the second half for a 9.6 average. He was a big reason Clemson controlled the ball for 12:29 of the fourth quarter. In the fourth period he had 59 yards in five carries.

Howard suffered a hamstring injury in practice prior to the Florida State game and missed the FSU and Virginia Tech games.

Brandon Thomas and Brandon Thompson

If you are covering the Tigers for the first time this year, don't get your Brandon's confused. There is Clemson defensive tackle Brandon Thompson and there is Clemson offensive guard Brandon Thomas. Both played a big role in Clemson's win over Auburn.

Thompson, in his third year as a starter, had six tackles, including a tackle for loss in 60 plays against Auburn. Thomas, did not start last week, but played 89 of the 94 offensive snaps as a guard. The final 89 of the game in fact.

He replaced Mason Cloy who was injured in the game. Cloy was replacing David Smith, who had shoulder surgery the Tuesday prior to the game. Thomas played 136 plays all of last year as a freshman, then played 89 against the defending National Champion.

Clemson Downs Defending National Champion...again

Clemson is now 3-0 against the defending National Champion in Memorial Stadium. The Tigers first defeated the defending champion in 1981 when the Tigers downed Georgia and Herschel Walker 13-3. They had won the title the previous year. Clemson defeated Georgia Tech in 1991, 9-7 at Death Valley, one year after the Yellow Jackets had won the UPI National Championship. And, on September 17, Clemson defeated Auburn by a 38-24 score, just three games removed from Auburn's 2010 National Championship.

In all three cases, Clemson gained the victory in the third game of the season against a team that had beaten the Tigers in a close game the year before.

Stopping Streaks

Clemson ended Auburn's 17-game winning streak on September 17 with a 38-24 victory. Clemson overcame a 14-point deficit in the first half, the first time Clemson had done that to gain victory since the 2006 Wake Forest game. That was the longest streak Clemson has snapped in school history. The previous record was a 15-game winning streak by Georgia in 1981.

Clemson Offensive Stats Similar to Tulsa So Far

Chad Morris came to Clemson with lofty numbers recorded at Tulsa last year. Tulsa was the only team in the nation to rank in the top 15 in rushing offense and passing offense in 2010 and averaged 505 yards and 41 points per game.

We are only five games in, but Clemson has recorded similar numbers this year. Clemson is averaging 173 rushing yards and 293 passing yards per game. That is a good sign for Clemson since the Tigers are 55-0-1 all-time when gaining at least 200 of each in the same game.

Clemson's team passing efficiency is 159.4 and the Tigers have averaged 6.08 yards per play, near the 6.53 recorded by Tulsa last year and near the Clemson record for the course of a season (6.50 in 2006). Clemson had 624 yards of total offense against Auburn third most in school history.

Young Tigers Make and Impact from the opener

Clemson got a lot of production from its freshman class in the season opening victory against Troy. Here are some notes on the freshmen from the opener.

•Clemson played 70 players against Troy and 24 of them were freshmen, 12 true freshmen and 12 red-shirt freshmen. The 12 true freshmen were the most in one game in school history. (Clemson has since played another for 13 on the season).

•The 12 true freshmen that played were Martavis Bryant, Sammy Watkins, Mike Bellamy, Tony Steward, Cole Stoudt, Stephone Anthony, Charone Peake, Robert Smith, Grady Jarrett, Corey Crawford, DeShawn Williams and Adam Humphries.

*The impact of the freshmen began on the first drive when Sammy Watkins caught a 33-yard touchdown pass from Tajh Boyd on Clemson's second play of the game. Watkins scored with 14:34 left in the first quarter, meaning he had scored just 26 seconds into his career. That is the earliest a freshman has scored into his career in school history. The previous record took place when Terry Allen scored at the 8:53 mark (6:07 into the game) of the first period against Western Carolina in 1987.

•Watkins went on to catch seven passes for 81 yards, the most receptions and most reception yards for a Clemson player in his first game in school history. Terrance Roulhac (1983) and Roscoe Crosby (2001), both had 64 receiving yards in their first game, respectively. Aaron Kelly had four catches in his first game in 2005 for the reception mark.

•In the second half freshman Mike Bellamy raced 75 yards for a touchdown on his first career rush. That was the longest run by a Clemson player in his first run from scrimmage. The previous record was a 72-yard run by Craig Crawford against Wake Forest in 1981.

•Martavis Bryant had a 54-yard reception on his first career reception in the fourth period as well. Clemson true freshmen had 291 all-purpose running yards for the day.

•On defense, true freshman Stephone Anthony had a sack and a pass deflection, while Robert Smith had an interception.

•Freshman Sammy Watkins had 81 yards receiving and classmate Mike Bellamy had 81 yards rushing against Troy in each player's first career game. That is a good number for a school that won the national championship in 1981.

•Freshmen scored three touchdowns in the game, as Watkins scored on a 33-yard reception, Bellamy on a 75-yard run and D.J. Howard on a one-yard run. It was the first time freshmen scored three times in the same game since the 2006 South Carolina game when C.J. Spiller scored on an 80-yard run and a 31-yard run and Jacoby Ford scored on a 76-yard touchdown pass. The record is four touchdowns by freshmen against Appalachian State in 1990. That day Ronald Williams (father of Clemson defensive tackle DeShawn Williams) scored three and Derrick Wither- spoon scored one.

•Bellamy (139) and Watkins (98), the freshman duo from Florida, combined for 237 all-purpose yards in the opener. That is 17 yards ahead of what Spiller and Ford did in their first game against Florida Atlantic in 2006. Spiller and Ford combined for 220 that day. Spiller and Ford rank as the number-one all-purpose yardage duo in the history of college football.

•Bellamy's 139 all-purpose yards were the most by a Clemson true freshman in his first game since 2006 when Ford had 148 against Florida Atlantic.

Tigers on NFL Rosters

Clemson has 24 former players on NFL rosters as of Labor Day (Sept. 10). The list includes seven members of the 2010 Clemson team who will be rookies this year.

The first-year NFL players from Clemson include Da'Quan Bowers with Tampa Bay, Marcus Gilchrist with San Diego, Chris Hairston with Buffalo, Jamie Harper with Tennessee, Byron Maxwell with Seattle and Jarvis Jenkins with Washington. Jenkins suffered a torn ACL in a preseason game and is out for the year.

The veteran of the group is Brian Dawkins, a senior at Clemson in 1995 who is playing in his 17th year. Trevor Pryce, who has been in the NFL since 1997, is a free agent and has not signed with a team yet.

A total of 11 players from the 2009 Clemson team that won the Atlantic Division of the ACC are on NFL rosters.

Odd but True

It is an odd numbered season so all Clemson fans should be excited. Since 1977 odd numbered seasons have been seasons of success, if not landmark years at Clemson.

That 1977 season saw Clemson go to a bowl game for the first time in 18 years under first-year head coach Charley Pell. The Tigers finished with a number-19 ranking, also the first top 20 ranking for the program since 1959.

Of course 1981 was the ultimate in football accomplishment for the Clemson program, a 12-0 record and the National Championship under third year (another odd number) head coach Danny Ford who was 33-years-old (there it is again) at the time. The Tigers beat Nebraska in the National Championship and Clemson will celebrate the 30th anniversary of that season later this year.

The 1991 season ended in an ACC title for the Tigers thanks to a 6-0-1 mark in the league and a 9-2-1 overall record. The team finished 17th in the nation. This year is the 20-year anniversary of that accomplishment.

Seven times since 1977 Clemson has been unranked in the preseason poll in an odd numbered year, but finished the year in the top 25. But just once since 1977 (the 1986 season) has Clemson been unranked in the preseason poll of an even numbered year, then finished in the top 25.

The trend of odd seasons of success has continued in this decade. In fact it has been a remarkable pattern. Since 2002, each of the odd numbered years Clemson has finished the season ranked in the top 25 of all polls even though it has not been ranked in the preseason. In the even numbered seasons since 2002, Clemson has failed to obtain a top 25 ranking at season's end even though it has been ranked in the preseason three times.

In each of the last four odd numbered seasons (2003, 2005, 2007, 2009) Clemson has won at least .643 of its games. In each of the even numbered seasons since 2002, Clemson has won at least 60 percent of the time just once, and that was in 2006 when the Tigers finished with an 8-5 record after a 7-1 start.

Lets look at the last four odd numbered seasons. The 2003 Tigers behind sophomore quarterback Charlie Whitehurst ran off a 9-4 record and finished with a number-22 national ranking after a 4-0 run to end the season that included a 63-17 victory over South Carolina, and wins over third ranked Florida State (the highest ranked team Clemson has defeated in its history) and sixth ranked Tennessee (the highest ranked team Clemson has beaten in a bowl game over the last 29 years).

The 2005 season included a 21-point victory over eventual ACC Champion Florida State, a fourth straight win over South Carolina under Whitehurst's direction and a bowl victory over Colorado. The 2007 season saw the Tigers record a 9-3 regular season record, including a 24-18 Labor Day night victory over 19th-ranked Florida State, the program's fifth straight win over a top 25 team under Tommy Bowden's direction.

And of course the 2009 season was the season of C.J. Spiller when the Tigers won the Atlantic Division of the ACC under Head Coach Dabo Swinney. Spiller was unanimous All-American and finished sixth in the voting for the Heisman Trophy, tied for the highest finish by a Clemson player. The Tigers defeated Florida State and Miami (FL) in the same season for the first time, and defeated Kentucky in the Music City Bowl.

A look to the chart below shows that Clemson has won 70.3 percent of its games in odd numbered years since 1977, but just 61.9 percent in even numbered years. Clemson has been to a bowl game 16 of the last 17 odd numbered years, but just nine bowl games in the last 17 even numbered years. Clemson has just four losing seasons in the last 34 years and all four have come in even numbered years. And the Tigers have had 11 top 25 seasons in the last 17 odd numbered years, but just six in even numbered years since 1977. Clemson has had just one top 25 final ranking (2000) in an even numbered year since 1992.

Additionally, Clemson has won at least nine games in three of the last four odd numbered years, but has just one season with at least nine wins in an even numbered year since 1990.

Four Sons of Former Tigers on 2011 Team

Four sons of former Clemson football players are on the 2011 Tigers team. Starting offensive tackle Landon Walker is the son of Gary Walker, who was a letterman on Clemson's 1981 National Championship team. The same goes for freshman Shaq Anthony, a first-year freshman whose dad, Vernie Anthony also lettered on the National Championship team.

Freshman defensive lineman DeShawn Williams is the son of running back Ronald Williams, who was the leading rusher on Clemson's 1990 team as a first year freshman with 941 yards, still the Clemson record for a first-year freshman. Williams played for the Tigers from 1990-92.

Walk-on Taylor Watson is the son of Ronald Watson, who was a freshman on that Clemson 1981 team.

Six Tigers on Preseason Awards Lists

Clemson has six current players on a combined 11 preseason Watch Lists for the 2011 season. The list includes two players, Dalton Freeman and Andre Ellington, who are on three lists apiece.

Freeman is a candidate for the Rimington Award, which goes to the top center in college football, the Outland Trophy, which goes to the top interior lineman, and the Lombardi Award, which goes to the top lineman. Freeman has been a starter at center each of the last two years, including 2009 when he became the first Clemson freshman since 1943 to start over the course of the season.

Ellington is a candidate for the Maxwell National Player of the Year Award, the Doak Walker Award, which goes to the top running back, and the Paul Hornung Award, which goes to the top all-purpose player. Ellington scored 12 touchdowns in the first seven games of the 2010 season before he suffered a toe injury. He was 10th in the nation in scoring and 30th in rushing at the time of the injury. His 6.33 yards per rush average for his career is best in Clemson history.

Dawson Zimmerman was a semifinalist for the Ray Guy Award as the nation's top punter last year, the only ACC player on that list, and he is again a candidate for that award this year. He is also among 30 players who are candidates for the Lowe's Senior Class award, which goes to the top senior student-athlete football player in the nation. He has made the Dean's list multiple times in his Clemson career.

Andre Branch, who is Clemson's leading returnee in terms of quarterback sacks, is a candidate for the Hendricks Award as the nation's top defensive end, while Dwayne Allen is up for the Mackey Award as the nation's top tight end. He was a second-team All-ACC selection last year. Finally, DeAndre Hopkins is a candidate for the Fred Biletnikoff Award as the nation's top wide receiver. He had 52 catches to lead the Tigers last year and had three receiving games of at least 100 yards in the last four contests last year.

Sammy Watkins was added to the Biletnikoff Watch List three games into this season after catching 10 passes for 155 yards against Auburn.

Clemson Has Young Team

Clemson has a young squad this year with 42 freshmen (red-shirt or first year) among the 85 players on scholarship. The record for most freshmen lettermen in a season is 23, set in 1985 when Danny Ford lettered 10 first-year freshmen and 13 red-shirt freshmen. The second most is 21 in 2006. That was C.J. Spiller's freshman year.

Clemson's first-year freshman class has 27 players this year, four who entered in January and 23 who entered this summer. The record for first-year freshmen to letter in a season is 10 by the 1985 freshmen and by the 1994 freshmen.

Clemson played 24 freshmen in the win over Troy to open the season, 12 true freshmen and 12 red-shirt. So some freshman participation records have a chance to fall this year. Demont Buice added to the list against Wofford and Lateek Townsend made his debut against Virginia Tech, so Clemson has now played 27 freshmen, 13 of whom are true freshmen.

Zimmerman Candidate for Lowe's Senior Class Award

Clemson senior punter Dawson Zimmerman is one of 30 pre-season candidates for the Lowe's Senior Class Award. An acronym for Celebrating Loyalty and Achievement for Staying in School, the Lowe's Senior Class Award honors the attributes of senior student-athletes in four areas: community, classroom, character and competition.

The award program is designed exclusively for college seniors who are utilizing their complete athletic eligibility, remaining committed to their university and pursuing the many rewards a senior season can bring. The award is sponsored by Lowe's, an official Corporate Partner of the NCAA, and is managed by Premier Sports Management.

The 30 candidates will be narrowed to 10 finalists midway through the regular season, and those 10 names will be placed on the official ballot. Ballots will be distributed through a nationwide voting system to media, coaches and fans who will select one finalist who best exemplifies excellence in the four Cs of community, classroom, character and competition.

Zimmerman has been outstanding in the classroom and one the field. A two-time Academic All-ACC performer, Zimmerman was a semifinalist for the Ray Guy Award last year when he averaged 40.6 yards per punt on a net punting basis, third best in Clemson history. His gross average of 40.8 yards per punt for a career is seventh best in school history.

The English major from Lawrenceville, GA had two punts over 75 yards last year, the first Clemson punt to have two punts over 75 yards in a career, never mind a season.

Zimmerman is one of just three ACC players on the list. The others are Chase Minnifield, a cornerback from Virginia and Will Snyderwine, a placekicker from Duke. Zimmerman and Drew Butler of Georgia are the only punters on the list.

Clemson Football Schedule, 2011

Clemson will play one of its most difficult schedules in history in 2011, as 10 of Clemson's 11 FBS opponents went to bowl games in 2010, including six who won at least nine games. Additionally, Wofford, Clemson's FBS opponent, was 10-3 and reached the second round of the NCAA FCS playoffs. The Terriers were ranked eighth in the preseason FCS poll.

Clemson's three FBS non-conference opponents had a combined 31-10 record last year, a .756 winning percentage and all won at least eight games last year. That list includes defending National Champion Auburn, who comes to Clemson on September 17. Troy (8-5) and South Carolina (9-5) also had outstanding seasons in 2010.

Overall, Clemson's 12 opponents in 2011 had a 104-55 record last year, a .658 winning percentage. That is the highest winning percentage in the nation when considering 2010 winning percentage by 2011 opponents. Each of Clemson's first five opponents won at least eight games, including four in a row who won at least 10 games. Seven of the eight ACC opponents went to bowl games last year and 10 of the 11 FBS teams went to bowls. Wofford went to the FCS playoffs.

Clemson has a 2011 schedule that is front-loaded with home games. The Tigers first four games will be at home, the first time that has happened since 1979 and just the third time in school history. The 1920 Tigers played their first five games at home.

Clemson plays six of its first eight games at home and, for the first time since 1989, Clemson will play just one home game after October 22.
